

JUDICIAL PROFILE

Brian R. Hauser currently is assigned to Juvenile Court. Since his 1991 appointment to be bench, he has also handled civil, domestic relations and criminal calendars. Prior to becoming a judge, he worked in the Civil Division of the Maricopa County Attorney's Office. He also worked in the Organized Crime and Racketeering Division of the Arizona Attorney General's Office between 1980 and 1984. He was in private practice from 1977 to 1979, as an associate in the firm of Carroll, Creamer, Carroll and Duffy in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He earned his bachelor's degree in 1974 and his law degree in 1977 from Temple University.

Judge Hauser has a reputation as a versatile trial judge who is capable of handling a wide array of cases. His background as both a private lawyer and prosecutor define him as a seasoned litigator which made his transition to the bench an easy one. He is active in both legal and community affairs. He has served as a member of the State Bar Mentor Committee, a program providing guidance and training to new lawyers. He also maintains strong ties to Temple University School of Law where he works with young graduates seeking to locate in Arizona. His court-related interests have been focused toward the Arizona Judicial College where he served on the Bench Book and Publications Committees and the Superior Court Law Library Committee. He also has served on the Commission on Judicial Performance Review and on the Superior Court Internet Committee.
